Predicts Light Vote Tuesday Despite Interest

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The gubernatorial race has stirred tremendous interest in Arkansas, but a man who keeps his finger on the state's political pulse predicts a comparatively light voter turnout for Tuesday's preferential primary.

Secretary of State C. G. (Crip) Hall said Thursday that he expects about 300,000 ballots, give or take a few, when the count is complete.

Hall said he based his prediction on the absence of hot local races over the state. "I've talked with a lot of people around Arkansas," he said, "and everyone tells me that—with the exception of Pulaski County—they expect a light vote in their areas."

Hall's estimated vote falls more than 10,000 short of the 311,227 cast in 1956 when Gov. Orval Faubus defeated Jim Johnson and Jim Snoddy without a runoff in a race with considerably less interest.

The record for a first primary was set in 1952 when incumbent Sid McMath and Francis Cherry each pulled enough of 329,050 votes to make the runoff.

If the secretary of state's prediction comes true, only slightly more than half of the 565,000 possible receipt holders will have exercised their voting privilege.

Hall, who has no opposition to his own bid for a 12th term, declined to predict how the 300,000 votes will be divided among the three Democratic candidates—Faubus, Judge Lee Ward of Paragould and Gov. Orval Faubus.

In the Gubernatorial Campaign Finkbeiner Ward Faubus

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chris Finkbeiner leveled a new campaign charge at Gov. Orval Faubus yesterday. He said Faubus was spending so much money trying to win a third term that he was neglecting his own people.

The Little Rock meat packer said Faubus was pouring out funds in a manner that would make him "so obligated that he couldn't possibly be governor of the state."

Finkbeiner said his campaign expenses were only one quarter the size of the governor's.

He made the statement at El Dorado where he spent the day, making the residents and making talks.

Hempstead Oil Test Abandoned

The Emory A. Thompson No. 1 oil test, Section 10-13-25, located near Hope, has been abandoned. It was learned today. The test was drilled by Kern Drilling Co. of Magnolia for L. C. Collins of Corpus Christi, Texas. The well was abandoned at a depth of 4,880 feet. A local spokesman said today that Collins planned to drill another test in the same area in the future. He didn't indicate when.

High Court Gets Faubus' Appeal Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court will have an appeal from Gov. Orval Faubus on its docket when it opens the fall term in October.

Faubus wants the high court to review the granting of an injunction issued against him during last fall's Little Rock integration crisis.

The injunction, granted by U.S. District Judge Ronald E. Davies, and upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals, prohibited the governor from interference with court-ordered integration at Central High School.

Faubus had surrounded the school with Arkansas National Guardsmen but withdrew them after the injunction was granted.

In his appeal from a U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals ruling, Faubus listed six points for consideration and added:

"Regardless of the heights of emotion and public interest to curiosity attained by this suit and regardless of the notoriety given the participants, there can surely be no justification for disregarding statutes and rules of procedure, the observance of which, we feel, would have gone a long way towards ameliorating the great damage to racial relations that has resulted from the precipitate outburst of the case."

The Supreme Court now is in summer recess.

Wickie Seems Doomed, Hunt Continues

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

Specially equipped ships and planes continued searching the Atlantic today but hope dimmed that Wickie the space mouse would be recovered inside a nose cone after an intercontinental range flight.

The tiny white mouse was enclosed in the nose cone of a Thor-Able rocket, streaked 6,000 miles through space Wednesday.

The recovery unit resumed the search in the South Atlantic near Ascension Island, but Air Force officials said today's effort probably would be the last attempt to find the nose cone.

The hunt was called off temporarily Thursday night when darkness closed in and the searchers failed to receive signals from the beech transmitter inside the nose cone recovery package.

Once the nose cone hit the water after a blazing, 12,000 m.p.h. re-entry from space, a 27-inch orange and blue balloon inflated automatically. The balloon floated on the surface with the nose cone suspended 30 feet below, but it appeared as a dot in the wide expanse of ocean.

If Wickie still was alive she had enough oxygen, food and water to last for about six weeks. Technicians still were analyzing telemetry data which will tell how the mouse's heart reacted to the hectic journey.

The Army apparently solved the 1,500-mile re-entry problem by recovering two full-scale Jupiter IRBM nose cones, but re-entry at intercontinental range still was a challenge.

Recovery of the nose cone was a matter of life and death for the tiny mouse.

Wickie was launched on a 27-day mission to test the Thor-Able rocket's ability to deliver a payload to a specific point in space.

The mission was part of a larger program to develop the Thor-Able rocket as a vehicle for launching satellites and other payloads into space.

Rebels Will Not Permit Vote 'Til Americans Leave

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rebel leader Saeb Salam said today the rebels will not permit presidential elections to be held as long as President Canille Chamoun is in power and foreign troops are in Lebanon.

"There will not be any election next week," Salam told newsmen. His statement dealt a heavy blow to hopes for an early settlement of the Lebanese crisis. Parliament is scheduled to meet Thursday to elect a successor to Chamoun.

Salam did not explain how he intended to prevent the election. But it was generally assumed the election will not be held unless there is prior agreement between the government and the opposition on a compromise candidate.

In Washington, James J. Wadsworth, deputy U.S. representative in the United Nations, said it is possible that U. S. troops can be withdrawn from Lebanon quite soon. He did not give an exact date.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Navy spokesman said no American planes have been shot down by anti-aircraft fire from Syria.

Eisenhower Proposes UN Council Set Time for Summit Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today that the United Nations Security Council determine when a Middle East summit conference is generally acceptable. If so, he said, the Council should determine a meeting date and make other arrangements.

The note was written by Eisenhower and Dulles Thursday and cleared with British and French leaders early today. It was handed to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Monshikov by Dulles at the State Department a few minutes after 1 p. m. The White House arranged for its publication about an hour later.

It was learned in advance, however, that the essence of the President's message was that it should be up to the Security Council itself to set the time and determine the composition and work out other plans for the meeting.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is informing Soviet Premier Khrushchev the proposed summit meeting on the Middle East must be conducted entirely within the framework of the U.N. Security Council, it was reported today.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said that was his understanding of a summary received by senators of the President's note to Khrushchev.

William Wadsworth, assistant secretary of state, gave members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a summary of the note at a closed-door session.

At the White House, newsmen were told that Eisenhower's note was on its way to Moscow, or shortly would be.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the U. S. note has been cleared with the French and British, but he declined to say whether the version drafted by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles was altered after the consultations.

Fulbright told reporters after a 40-minute session with Macomber that this was his understanding of the note: "By and large the attitude of this government will be that this will be a meeting of the United Nations Security Council and not just a meeting of the United Nations."

TOWN TAMER

By FRANK CRUBER

Chapter XXXV

For a long moment, Tavenner stared at the man who lay at his feet. Then a shudder ran through him. For an instant he was almost sober. His eyes went to Susan, who still stood, petrified, before James Pell.

"Help," Tavenner cried suddenly. "Help, they're gonna lynch me!"

The emptied gun clutched in his fist, he stumbled past Susan toward Honsinger. The marshal saw Tom Rosser come up and slammed the long barrel of the side of Tavenner's head. Tavenner went down like a felled tree.

Honsinger stepped over him, leading Tavenner. He half turned, saw Tom Rosser come up and slammed the long barrel of the side of Tavenner's head. Tavenner went down like a felled tree.

"My prisoner," he snarled. "Don't you make a move."

"For him?" scoffed Rosser. He made a half circle to avoid coming within yards of Honsinger and Tavenner. He continued on to Susan, who still stood, petrified, before James Pell.

Rosser gave her a quick look and dropped to one knee. Carefully, he put a hand under Pell and turned him over on his back. Blood was oozing from the left side of Pell's chest. Rosser's eyes ran quickly over Pell, could find no other wounds and was surprised. At the short range, firing six times, Tavenner had struck Pell only once.

He said over his shoulder, "Get Dr. Kent!"

The command released Susan Tavenner. A shudder ran through her and then she came alive. She whirled, started running, past Honsinger and the unconscious Tavenner.

Others had seen the shooting, however. One had dashed into Dr. Kent's office and the doctor was coming out of his office as Susan rushed toward his office.

"Dr. Kent!" Susan cried. "Mr. Pell's been shot!"

Sim Atkins, wearing his new deputy marshal's badge, clumped up the stairs and went into the hotel. He found Moody behind the desk.

"It ain't true," he said to Moody. "Tavenner wasn't fired by Condor."

"Condor told you to tell that?" snapped Moody.

"Maybe he did and maybe he didn't," growled Atkins. "And maybe it's just me who's telling you. Tavenner stays in jail. Don't you and your fancy friends try nothing."

"Get out!" snapped Moody. "And don't step back into his hotel until you're invited by me!"

Atkins looked pointedly at the bandage about Moody's head. "You lost a chunk of your brain this morning. Use the rest, if there's any left, to think what's going to happen to you, you buck the boys again."

He pivoted on his heel and headed for the door, flinching as he went out because Tom Rosser stood on the veranda just inside the door, and he had to pass him again.

Rosser intended otherwise. "Atkins," he said as the door swung open for the deputy.

Atkins stopped.

"Turn in your tin star," Rosser continued. "That's me telling you."

"I ain't afraid of you, Rosser," blustered Atkins.

"Have you ever in your life had $2,500?" Rosser asked mockingly. "All you've got to do is draw that gun of yours and put a single bullet into me. You do that and Riley Condor'll give you the twenty-five hundred. You're not afraid—you just said so."

But Atkins was already moving down the stairs.

It was ten minutes to 12.

a Negro group, last night.

After his brief address, questions from the audience were invited.

One question was about Ward's attitude toward the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. But the judge didn't answer it because the program chairman stepped in and said he thought the query was unfair.

Ward said he was willing to reply to the chairman, Elroy Puckett, asked the crowd if it wanted him to do so. There were cries of "No, no, no."

Previously Ward has answered similar questions with a statement that he disapproves of extremists on both sides of the racial question.

The Negro group has endorsed Ward's candidacy but the judge was unaware of the action until yesterday.

than four times what we have budgeted."

In a speech carried by an El Dorado television station last night, Finkbeiner put on record his stand on the Full Crew Amendment proposal. Previously Faubus had signed a petition to refer the proposal to the November general election.

"I signed the petition to put the Full Crew Law on the ballot," Finkbeiner said. "The only difference was that when Chris Finkbeiner signed it, he signed it sincerely; he didn't have a camera man present when he did it."

Faubus was photographed when he signed the petition and the picture was given to the press.

"I'd be more than happy to see the Full Crew Law go before the people," Finkbeiner said. "In my opinion the Full Crew Law wouldn't hurt the state of Arkansas, therefore I would vote for it."

Today Finkbeiner's Schedule listed visits to the Helena-West Helena area, Marvell and Elaine.

Faubus

Activities Control Board, decided Faubus' remarks.

"That's ridiculous," the former governor said, "nobody had anything to do with the statement except me. I haven't seen or corresponded with Adams or Ashmore in two years or more."

Faubus charged that McMath, now a Little Rock attorney, spent his time during the fall's Central High School integration crisis in a Little Rock press club "conspiring with my enemies and trying to discredit me."

Both of Faubus' opponents for the Democratic nomination—Chris Finkbeiner and Lee Wed—also drew fire from the governor.

He said Wed had implied that he was a traitor and added that while he was in infantry combat in World War II, the Paragould chancellor was in an air-conditioned office in Hawaii "fighting the war with a pencil."

Ward served as a chief yeoman in the Navy.

The governor charged that Finkbeiner was building a new packing plant in a place where he could get cheap labor and pay low taxes.

Several months ago it was announced that Finkbeiner, a Little Rock packing executive, would be associated with a new meat packing plant in Puerto Rico.

Faubus also made a radio-television speech at Little Rock last night and later attended a rally at North Little Rock.

In the Little Rock talk he called almost four hours since James Penmore Fell had been shot down on the street by the drunk on Guy Tavenner. In the Pleasure Palace, Riley Condor was again haranguing members of the sporting syndicate.

"All right, I fired him," he declared. "He was on his own, but that's no good. The man he shot is Jim Pell. He's Mr. Big. Anybody else nobody'd raise a hand after last night. But Jim Pell."

Every man in this town is in awe of him. Every worker on that railroad swears by him. The vigilantes last night were nothing but a few scared rabbits. Now, isn't a man in the territory wouldn't join up with them? They hang one man—even an excuse of a man like Guy Tavenner—they'll continue to hang."

Not one of the men before Condor put up an argument. But Ken Rud asked, "We got to stop them from hanging this Tavenner?"

Condor nodded grimly. "If we have to kill off half the town."

At five minutes to 12, Wendell Lewis stepped out of his store. In one hand he gripped a revolver in the other a coil of rope.

He joined Dr. Kent. Other shopkeepers were advancing. These were not the survivors of the dawn group. On a few of them had been on the abortive expedition, but this new group of vigilantes consisted of most citizens who were not members of the syndicate's ring.

Sim Atkins, who stood in the doorway of the jail, suddenly whirled inside and slammed the door.

Across the street, Rosser sighed wearily and went past Moody down the stairs.

"Where do you think you're going?" Moody asked.

"To do the job, same here to do," Rosser said heavily.

Miss Floyd Makes Official Visit

Miss Pud Floyd, Grand-Worthy Advisor to the State of Arkansas, made her official visit to the Prescott Assembly No. 57. She was accompanied by three of her Grand Officers, Miss Annette Reeves, Grand Charity;

Miss Kathy Snell, Grand Dill Leader; Miss Nancy Guley, Grand Nature.

Miss Floyd made the flowing Grand appointments: Miss Jane Kitcher, Grand Personal Page to Grand Nature; Misses Martha Adam and Helendale Ledbetter, Grand Pages; Misses Gail McBrayer and Judy Koslosky, Grand Choir.

The Prescott Assembly initiated Jane Nelson and Carolyn Daniel into the order.

The table was covered with a white table cloth and centered with a cake of white and a doll dressed in red. The hall was decorated with summer flowers.

Miss Bonita McKeloy, W. A. presided over the meeting.

Three guests were present from Gurdon.

Methodist Have Family Night

Members of the First Methodist Church enjoyed a covered dish supper on Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The supper was served from a table covered with a white cloth centered with an arrangement of mixed summer blossoms. The invocation was given by Freeman Lilgen.

The purpose of the meeting was to strengthen the fellowship of the members of the church and to raise some money to re-decorate Fellowship Hall. Each person under 18 years of age was asked to pay 1 cent for each pound he or she weighed. Each person over 18 years of age was asked to pay 2 cents for each pound he or she weighed. The weighing took place after the supper.

Men of First Baptist Church Have Fish Fry

Sixty members of the First Baptist Church met on Monday evening at the church for a fish fry.

Cherry, a Republican in Oklahoma, a Democrat in Arkansas and now a Republican again in Washington, Faubus said. "No good Republican can trust him and no good Democrat can trust him."

Cherry's bid for a second term was defeated by Faubus in 1954. The governor reiterated an action taken last month to oppose him because I didn't turn my administration over to him. There is no deputy governor in Arkansas and there will be none.

Today Faubus scheduled called for visits to Waldron, Mona, and Texarkana.

Formby gave the invocation.

During the evening Rev. Roy Woodell told of proposed plans to re-organize a Brotherhood of the church and told of the various officers. It was voted to have an organization meeting in August.

Mrs. Albert Peachey Heads Legion Auxiliary

The July meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Albert Peachey, with twelve members present.

The meeting was opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the reading of the preamble. Mrs. Layce Anderson led in prayer.

Various reports were made. Mrs. Robert Peachey, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. R. Underwood, who spoke on "Rehabilitation."

Mrs. J. W. Gist, in an impressive ceremony, installed the following officers: President, Mrs. Albert Peachey; First Vice President, Mrs. J. T. McRae; treasurer, Mrs. John W. Davis; Secretary, Mrs. Wilburn Willis; Sergeant at Arms, Mrs. Loyce Anderson; Historian, Mrs. J. W. Gist; Chaplain, Mrs. A. R. Underwood; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Maurice McClelland.

Mrs. McClelland, retiring president, expressed her thanks for the cooperation of the members. Mrs. Peachey then took the chair and read a partial list of her committee.

Frosted drinks were served during the social hour.

B. W. C. F. Has Supper Meeting

The Business Women's Christian Fellowship of the First Christian Church met on Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Fellowship Hall of the church for a covered dish supper and meeting. The invocation was given by the president, Mrs. B. C. Sifers.

Following the supper the meeting was opened with the theme song "Evening Prayer" and the business session conducted.

Miss Elizabeth Francisco had charge of the program for the evening entitled "Broadening the Christian Fellowship." She read appropriate scriptures and the songs "Take My Life and Let It Be" and "Bless Be The Tie That Binds" were sung. A playlet was presented by Mrs. Alfred Cummings, Mrs. Mildred Dawson and Miss Francisco. The meeting closed with the recitation of the Missionary Benediction. Miss Fay Lewis will be the leader for August.

Mrs. Lora Johnson of Sherman, Texas has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Munn.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wren had as their guests during the week and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wren and children of North Little Rock and

3. Hammarskjold should be authorized to consult immediately with the permanent delegates of the interested powers on such matters as starting day, composition of the conference, rules of procedure and so on.

The Western leaders will propose no firm dates but it is known they consider Aug. 8 the earliest possible time, with Aug. 11 possibly the latest.

Informants said Western leaders are determined to resist Khrushchev's rush tactics. They feel the rush tactics are intended to give an exaggerated impression of the peril of war.

The Western proposal that all summit arrangements be left to Hammarskjold has several advantages in the U.S. and British view.

It would make clear the summit conference is an operation of the United Nations and would make more correspondence with Moscow on details unnecessary.

British officials reported the 15 Atlantic Allies have dropped plans for a special meeting of foreign ministers in Paris next week to coordinate policies on summit talks. It was decided the NATO Council can handle the situation.

gould and Chris Finkbeiner of Little Rock.

Hall said his office is being asked frequently for voting figures in previous elections as the 1958 race nears its climax. Those who ask apparently are trying to compute Faubus' chances if he is forced into a runoff.

Tradition is against him. Of two runoffs involving incumbents since the two primary system was installed in 1940, the office holder has come out second best.

Faubus trailed Cherry by more than 49,000 votes in the first primary of 1954 but beat Cherry by 5,000 in the runoff.

Two years earlier Cherry called in a runoff, swamping Gov. McMath by 38,000 votes after trailing him by 9,000 in the first primary.

The McMath-Cherry runoff drew 275,500 to the polls—a record for a second primary.

In Arkansas' only other runoff for governor, McMath defeated Little Rock attorney Jack Holt in 1948. Neither was governor at the time.

Gov. Homer M. Adkins, first to run under the double primary law, was affected by it. He grabbed the Democratic nomination in the first balloting in both his campaigns—1940 and 1942.

Gov. Ben Laney was scheduled

Harold Wells of Madisonville, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Atkerson, Nancy and Johnny of Little Rock spent the weekend with Mrs. Thorne Hesterly.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hines of Tyler, Texas were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hines.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Craig of Little Rock were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Bob Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis and Nancy toured the Ozarks during the weekend.

Mrs. J. A. Cole, Mrs. John Eagle, Mrs. Frank Hallom Jr. and Mrs. N. B. Nelson attended the Wesleyan Service Guild school of missions at Camp Alden during the weekend.

Miss Frances Bailey has returned from Columbia, Tenn., where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Walter Mountcastle and family. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Mountcastle and sons. Miss Bailey of Malvern is also a guest to the Bailey home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stewart and son, David, of Little Rock were the weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stuart.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jameson spent the weekend in Bossier City, La., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hiett.

heads of state near the U.N. Security Council."

Fulbright said the note insists that neither the Soviets nor the for a runoff with the late Bryan Sims of Hot Springs in 1944, but Sims withdrew between the primaries. Laney won the first primary in his second term bid two years later. McMath also was successful on the first ballot in his second term try in 1950.

"No matter how hot the governor's race gets, though," Hall said, "we just don't get a big turnout unless there are some good races for sheriff, county judge, etc., at the local level."

Most local races this year are confined to two candidates and will not be voted on until the Aug. 12 primary.

Pulaski County, on the other hand, expects an extremely heavy vote with three aggressive candidates for county judge and three others for sheriff.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see 50,000 votes in Pulaski County," Hall said. "But that won't be enough to pull the state vote up anywhere near a record level."

United States should pick and choose those who would be invited to attend.

Fulbright said his interpretation of U. S. insistence on sticking by the rules of the Security Council would mean that India's Nehru, Egypt's Nasser or Israel's Ben-Gurion would attend only as they might be invited by the Security Council.

Some authorities here reported that the President believes it should be up to the Security Council through its regular machinery at U.N. headquarters in New York to arrange the proposed extraordinary session of heads of government of the 11 member nations and to set the date.

Khrushchev had proposed a start Monday, but that is now obviously impossible. Some question remained whether French Premier Charles de Gaulle will be willing to attend at all, although dispatches from Paris indicated that he probably would.

Secretary of State Dulles, meanwhile, held to his plan to take off for Bonn, Germany, tonight on a schedule that calls for his absence from Washington until Tuesday.

Dulles will confer with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn for several hours Saturday afternoon and go on to London Saturday night for sessions of the Baghdad Pact Council.

WHO KNOWS BEST — The people concerned or my two opponents?

Both have referred to my being one of four attorneys who represented Robins, et al, in the case of Monroe Samuels, and others, vs. Robins, and others, decided by the Arkansas Supreme Court on Jan. 21, 1946, (209 Ark. 614). One has published big ads about it.

Monroe Samuels has authorized me to say that he supported me four years ago for Prosecuting Attorney and is doing so now.

During the summer of 1946 the other Hope lawyer in this case with me (who did exactly the same as I did) was elected Prosecuting Attorney over three opponents without a run off. No one mentioned this case at that time; neither did my three opponents in 1954 mention it. The Hope man and one of the other lawyers in the case are now Judges.

My present opposition is desperate as the political talk is that I will win July 29, unless they can do something drastic.

Avote for Royce Weisenberger for Prosecuting Attorney is a vote for a clean man conducting a clean campaign. See Royce's program on Channel 6 at 10:15 P. M. Monday, July 28.

Need Planning to Meet Wood Requirements

By Edwin E. Waddell
District Forester, Unit Nine
Meeting the wood requirements of a modern day nation takes plenty of planning and technical "know how." Among the men providing these necessary talents are foresters.

Practically an unknown profession in the United States half a century ago, forestry today offers a promising and challenging field for young men seeking careers with a future.

Time was when about the only employment available to foresters, and this for only a few, was in federal or state conservation organizations. This is no longer true. America's wood-using industries have taken increasing responsibility for conservation and wise woodland management. As a result, more than 5,000 foresters are employed by America's forest industries. Another 1,200 foresters are working as consultants or as managers of non-industrial woodlands.

Industrial foresters work for lumber companies, pulp and paper manufacturers, plywood and veneer mills, wood preserving companies, railroads, mining companies and other industrial wood-land owners. While modern day forest industries produce timber crops for today's markets they also grow trees for tomorrow's.

The industrial forester's assignments range all the way from administrative planning to the operation of tree nurseries and planting programs. Foresters plan and supervise logging; survey, and build access roads into forest areas; lay out and direct forest protection and fire fighting systems; cruise and map timberland; direct campaigns against tree-killing insects and diseases; and carry out studies designed to increase timber growth.

In addition to all these jobs on company woodland, many industrial forester have full-time or part-time jobs helping small woodland owners with tree growing and management problems. All over the United States industrial foresters are encouraging their timberland owning neighbors to grow trees as a cash crop and manage their woodlands so they can qualify for membership in the industry-sponsored American Tree Farm System.

Advisors advise high school students interested in a forestry career to study mathematics, physics, chemistry and biology. Certificates of forestry schools in your state or area can be obtained from the nearest wood-using industry.

DOROTHY DIX

Make Up Your Mind Before Tying Knot

Dear Dorothy Dix: Three years ago I met Bud. We dated a few times but I didn't get serious over him. I married someone else and, no sooner was the ceremony over, than I realized it was really Bud I loved. My husband and I parted after a year and I got a divorce. At that time Bud was overseas, so I wrote and told him I was free. He answered, but made no proposal or commitments. When he came home we resumed dating but on a very uncertain basis. I see him very seldom, although he says he's saving his money. He claims we'll get married some day and if I see him too often I'll lose interest in him. Another reason why he rarely sees me is that his mother doesn't like me. How can I show him I really love him, and how can I know if he really loves me? — Sophie

Dear Sophie: You goofed, doll. You've been relentlessly pursuing a guy who doesn't want to be caught — and won't be either. You should have stood by your marriage and put the same effort into making a success of it that you've wasted on a hopeless case. Admit you're licked, and give up.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm very much in love with a fellow I've known for five months. He says he loves me, too, but I don't believe him. He doesn't like me out Saturday or Sunday. Our dating is one movie a week. We're not young, both being in the 30's. I've given him privileges. I know I shouldn't have so maybe it's my own fault. Don't you think if he really loved me he'd see me more often? — Laurel

Dear Laurel: It's my sad duty to agree with you. A little investigation would doubtless reveal another girl who has the Saturday-Sunday concession. Withdraw the privileges. Probably you'll lose even your one movie a week, but it's better to face facts now than face tragedy later.

UN Council to Work Out Plans Soon

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Western sources said today the U.N. Security Council probably will be called into session early next week to work out arrangements for a summit meeting here. These quarters said they have been given the definite impression that the Soviet Union will accept President Eisenhower's reported proposal for such details as time, place and participants be settled through U.N. channels.

Members of the 11-nation Council are keeping in close touch with the East-West exchanges and are ready to meet quickly if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev agrees to this procedure. Secret consultations are going on now to settle the thorny issue of Iraqi representation on the Council in advance of the summit meeting.

100 Americans Leave Baghdad

ROME (AP) — A hundred Americans, including 33 women and 50 children, flew into Rome Wednesday from troubled Baghdad.

They are the second group of Americans to be evacuated from Iraq, where a revolution upset the monarchy last week. All those arriving Wednesday are members of U.S. Government missions in Baghdad or dependents of government employees.

The Articles of Confederation did not provide for an executive head of the country.

Matter of FACT

In 1860, the pony express service was established between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., covering the distance in eight days. The pony express was a private enterprise, employing 80 men. The riders, all 18 to 20 years of age, rode not less than 30 miles a day. The pony express was an important institution for over a year, until late in 1861, when the telegraph line went through to California.

Short Ballot at Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP)—Point-set County voters will be confronted with perhaps the shortest ballot on record at Tuesday's Democratic preferential primary. Only the three-man governor's race will be voted on then. Other races, state, district, and county, involve only two candidates and will not be voted on until Aug. 12.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE BUSHWHACKER

Seventeenth of a series

by Donald J. Sobol

Johnny Kid saw Ringo Charlie's shadow coming.

As the little burro tossed and jolted, Haledjian wondered what madness had prompted him to sign up for this mountain ride. He should have remained at the resort astride a beach chair and let local color alone.

"That there's the Johnny Kid's corner," he suddenly announced the tour's grizzly little guide. He pointed to a projection of rock which formed a perfect corner. "Seventy years ago on that spot Ringo Charlie got bushwhacked by Johnny Kid."

"Johnny Kid objected to Ringo Charlie's weakness for palm trees. As Ringo Charlie was the fastest gun in three countries and related to half the town, Johnny Kid never pushed his objections. But one fine day he crouched behind that there rock and waited."

The guide dismounted and briefly made like Johnny Kid. "Long about 4 in the afternoon," he resumed, "Ringo Charlie and his brother Sy come along. They'd suspicion'd something. So they'd left the horses back a piece and come up quiet, on foot."

The guide rose from his knee, rounded the corner, and walked a dozen paces. He turned about, enacting the part of Ringo Charlie, and sneaked toward the corner. He squinted dramatically into the afternoon sun and held one hand cupped above the butt of an imaginary pistol.

"Johnny Kid seen Ringo Charlie's shadow coming while Ringo was still six feet away. Out jumps the Kid, two guns blazing. Ringo Charlie goes flat as a slab, and Sy high tails it back to town for a posse."

"A fair fight was one thing, but bushwhackin' was another breed of cow. When folks heard how Johnny Kid had the advantage on Ringo Charlie, they up and lynched him, even though the Kid don't yet have any chin fuzz."

"They hanged an innocent boy," spoke up Haledjian.

The guide dismounted and that?"

"Sy lied to the townsfolk. I suppose he hated to admit a mere boy beat his brother to the draw," said Haledjian.

Daffy Golf Meet Gets Underway

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) A slightly daffy golf tournament got under way today as part of the anniversary celebration of Paragould and Greene County.

Golfers at a country club here were required to tee off for nine holes with just three clubs in their bags.

The handicaps—one stroke for wearing a beard, one for wearing a jubilee tie, one for wearing a jubilee hat, two for a birdie and three for playing in genuine old-fashioned "plus four" golf knickerbockers.

Chickens Are Still Among Best Buys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frying chickens, an old bargain favorite, and canned hams, a comparative newcomer, will be featured in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend.

Prices for fryers are down two to six cents a pound in some areas and indications are they'll stay depressed for awhile. Summer supplies are expected to be about a fifth greater than last year.

Canned hams are featured more for their convenience than for economy. They can be served either hot or cold, slice easily for sandwich and are all meat with no fat. Some meaty or soupy or prices generally are somewhat lower this week.

Beef prices remain on a high level, although some stores are bucking the trend with offerings of rib roasts and chuck roasts. Steak in a wide range of types—chuck, rib, round, sirloin and porterhouse — also is a widely scattered feature.

Fruits and vegetables continue to be cheap.

Cabbage stays at the head of the bargain parade with cucumbers, snap beans, lettuce, potatoes and tomatoes right behind. Tomatoes are one of the vegetables affected by rain, so the wise shopper will look them over carefully.

Celery, radishes and onions also are outstanding buys, while good bargains are obtainable in cauliflower, sweet corn, peppers, carrots and spinach.

Peaches are the star attraction at fruit counters. Watermelons also are unusually plentiful. Competition from the two is driving prices of other fruits down. These include blueberries, navel oranges and lemons, cantaloups and honeydew melons.

Sports in Brief

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP)—A half-dozen heavily armed policemen burst into a branch of the Citizens Savings Bank in answer to the bank alarm. There was no robbery. A curious 3-year-old girl pushed the bank alarm button while her parents were discussing a mortgage with the bank manager.

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP)—Christmas cards are coming early for Postmaster Charles Alexander. He says his friends are trying to beat the Aug. 1 deadline for higher postage rates.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The state fire marshal is on record as favoring the sack dress. Joe R. Cockers, the marshal, wrote in a bulletin to fire chiefs, the sack may have some strange bulges elsewhere, but being tight around the hem, it's not as likely to catch fire from fireplaces, wall heaters or ranges.

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Staff Sgt. and Mrs. James Busby need a bigger home—and quick. Mrs. Busby, 26, gave birth to twin boys 10 months after having twin girls. Neighbors help take care of the girls while the sergeant goes house hunting. "We've got to have another room," he said.

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Recession or no recession, folks gamble. State tax commission reports show Nevada gambling casinos won 62 1/2 million dollars in the first six months of this year—almost 5 million more than in the same pre-recession period last year. The state's tax share amounted to 2 1/2 million.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—There is a women's bridge club here with 12 members who have much in common. Their husbands are attorneys who graduated from Washburn University in Topeka eight years ago. Six of the husbands are running for office this year — two of them for the same one.

ADVERTISING IS NEWS, TOO!

People buy this newspaper for news of the world, the country and our community in particular. Our readers are also interested in news about food, clothes, entertainment, automobiles, furniture and all of the necessities and luxuries that have to do with daily living.

Through advertising in this paper you can give our readers the up-to-date news about your merchandise and services. Each one of your advertisements can be a newspaper within a newspaper.

Of course you should know all about the circulation of the newspaper that is carrying the news of your business. How many people buy the paper? Where are they located? How was the circulation obtained? To give you this information and many other facts that you need and have a right to know when you buy advertising space, this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Established in 1914, the Bureau is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Its purpose is to furnish advertisers with verified reports on the circulation of its publisher members.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records, just as the bank examiner makes a check of your bank's records. The information thus obtained is published in official A.B.C. reports. When you buy space in this newspaper our A.B.C. report tells you just what, in circulation value, you get for your advertising investment.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Advertisers are invited to ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.
